

Lesson 13 - Irregular Verbs in The Future and Conditional Tenses

By: Panda

With the help of Spanishdict cuz irregular verbs are hard to explain by oneself.

Today, we will...

- ★ Learn How to Conjugate Irregular Verbs With The Future Tense
- ★ Learn How to Conjugate Irregular Verbs With The Conditional Tense

Before we begin....

- Make a sentence in your language that includes an irregular verb. What makes a verb irregular? Do you do anything special with it or must you memorize different conjugations of each verb? Discuss!

Irregular Verbs in The Future Tense

Irregular “-er” and “-ir” verbs get their “i” or “e” removed from the infinitive ending and a “d” will be put into their place. Or another way to say it, you remove the “-er” or “-ir” ending and add “dr” before you add your normal future tense ending.

Ex: Tener → (Yo) Tendré.

This would work in verbs like “tener” (to have), “valer” (to cost), “salir” (to leave/to get out) and “venir” (to come)

Irregular “-er” verbs such as “poder” may go through a similar yet different change. Here, you just remove the “e” or “i” in the ending and add your normal future tense ending.

Ex: Poder → (Ella) Podrá

This would work on verbs like “poder” (to be able to), “caber” (to fit), “haber” (to have), “saber” (to know) and “querer” (to like)

Very Irregular Irregulars

As you probably noticed the pattern by now, there are irregular irregular verbs.

In terms of the future tense, there are 2 irregular irregular verb conjugations.

	Decir	Hacer
Yo	diré	haré
Tú	dirás	harás
Él/Ella/Usted	dirá	hará
Nosotros	diremos	haremos
Ellos/Ellas/Ustedes	dirán	harán

This also applies to predecir (to predict) and rehacer (to redo).

Practice

Conjugate the following verbs to the future tense according to the following pronouns.

1. (Yo) Hacer
2. (Ellos) Poder
3. (Nosotros) Salir
4. (Ella) Decir
5. (Usted) Saber

Irregular Conditional Forms

Remember the verbs that get a “d” to replace the last vowel of the infinitive form?
Those get the same deal in the Conditional form.

Ex: (Yo) Tener → (Yo) Tendría

“-Er” verbs such as “Poder” get that last vowel (from the infinitive form) removed before adding the conditional tense ending. Just like in the future tense form.

Ex: (Ella) Poder → (Ella) Podría

Very Irregular Irregulars

In the conditional tense, there are 2 irregular irregular verb conjugations.

	Decir	Hacer
Yo	diría	haría
Tú	dirías	harías
Él/Ella/Usted	diría	haría
Nosotros	diríamos	haríamos
Ellos/Ellas/Ustedes	dirían	harían

This also applies to predecir (to predict) and rehacer (to redo).

Practice - Translation

Translate the following sentences to Spanish.

1. She would make cake.
2. We wouldn't tell you.
3. I would have to eat cake. (Tener que - to have to)
4. He couldn't do it.
5. They would be able to make the lasagna. (COMBINE DEM POWERS!!!)

Any Questions?

¡Gracias y Adiós!
